RE: Parleys Canyon Quarry, S/035/012

This is in response to your May 8, 1995 letter to Warren Reynolds, Salt Lake County Development Services Division regarding our operations at the Parley's Canyon Quarry. It is our intention to continue to comply with the Small Mining Operations permit currently in place for the project (DOGM Permit No. S/035/012) until which time Harper Construction can obtain the DOGM's approval of a Notice of Intention to Commence Large Mining Operations (NOI-LMO) for the operations described in our Conditional Use Permit Application to Salt Lake County. We are currently working on the NOI-LMO and anticipate being able to submit it to you within a few weeks. During the estimated 4-5 months that it may take for the DOGM to review an approve the NOI-LMO, we will keep our surface disturbance under 5 acres and comply with the approved NOI-SMO.

For your information, we did submit the Annual Report for the quarry that was the subject of your January 20, 1995 letter to Joseph C. Rust. This report was submitted to the DOGM prior to the January 31, 1995 due date.

We are trying to obtain the County's approval of our Conditional Use Permit for the expanded operations. We would appreciate your responding to Mr. John Young, Salt Lake County Development Services Division, about our DOGM compliance status based on this letter so the County can proceed with issuing our Conditional Use Permit which will include a condition that we comply with all applicable State and local permitting requirements.

Sincerely,

Lawnie Mayhew
Director Environmental Services
